At no time in the history of true medicine has an article appeared which has not with greater approval and success than Benson's Capeine Plaster. Why they are preferred to all other porous plasters, is owing to their improved composition; they act instantaneously, cure specifily and effectually.

Physicians and the general public who acknowledge the great benefits derived from the use of the ordinary porous plaster, however, maintain that their action is not sufficiently prompt, requiring time, patience and continuous wear to effect a cure. Benson's Capeine Plaster overcomes this difficulty by occomplishing in a few hours, that which it takes any other Plaster as many days.

The Trustees of the Cairo City Property desire to call public attention to the merits of their property, comprising a considerable portion of the City of Cairo, in Alexander County, in the State of Illinois, and lands immediately adjacent thereto.

This city, as is well known, is situated at This city, as is well known, is situated at the confluence of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, at the head of uninterrupted navigation on the Mississippi, being below obstructions by ice in the winter and low water in summer, and it as has a clear and open river communication at all times over the Mississippi and its tributaries, with all the country south, to the Guif of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean. Cairo has also the same character of communication with all the country north over the streams flowing by it, when those streams are not innavigable by reason of ice or low water.

Before the era of Rallroads, Cairo had a commanding position as a centre of commerce and navigation. This importance of position she still possesses, but has now the additional advantage of being a great railroad centre, a number of the most important railroads in the Valley of the Mississippi converging to and having their termini there. Among these, coming from the north are the great lilinois Central Railroad, which traverses the entire state of Illinois from its extreme northern and north—eastern Before the era of Rallroads, Cairo had a which traverses the entire tate of Illinois from its extreme northern and north-esstern to its southern limits, and by its connections extends into all the great northwestern grain producing States; the Cairo and Vincennes, extending from Cairo to the City of Vincennes, in the State of Indians, where its connections afford direct railroad communications with all Fastern cities; and the Cairo & St. Louis Railroad, affording a direct railroad communication with the direct railroad communication with the City of St. Louis and all the railroads cen-tering there. The roads coming from the South are the New Orleans, Jackson and Great Northern and the Mobile and Ohio Railroads, which give direct railroad com-munication with the cities of Mobile. munication with the cities of Mobile and New Orleans, and other Southern Atlantic sea ports, and by connecting roads with all the country south of Cairo; and coming from the southwest is the Cairo, Arkansa-and Texas Railroad, which affords similar communication with Southern Western and Texas Railroad, which afterds similar communication with Southern Missouri, Arkansas and Texas, and the principal cities of those States. This last-named road will give, also, direct counsection with the Texas and Pacific Road when it is com leted, thus giving direct communication with the principal ports of the Pacific Oceas I hese railroads, terminating at Cairo, are now all completed and in successful operation, those in Illinois coming into the city on a bank of each of the rivers. Ohio and Mississippi, and terminating at their confluence, thus encircing the city. The Holly Springs, Brownsville and Ohio River Railroad, and the Cairo and Tennessee River Railroad, which will both terminate at Cairo, are in course of construction and will soon be completed, and other railroads both in Illinois and in States south of the Ohio river, which will also terminate at Cairo, are projected, and arrangements made to will dilem. The construction of these cations of Cairo.

Its central location in the great wealth of river and railroad communication, gives to Cairo unsurpassed advantages as a commercial point, as it allords to her easy and cheap access to all the grain producing districts of the North and West, and similar access to all the agricultural produce consumers of the South, thus presenting the best location in the West for an interchange of the respect-ive northern and southern commodities and

As a manufacturing location the positio of Cairo is not less important. The crude materials of every description, which conmaterials of every description, which constitute the elements of manufactured articles, abound on every side, iron ore, coal, of superior quality, and timber of every character, more than others, being easily and cheaply accessible, and the rich agricultural region of the immediate neighborhood, as well as the more remote districts rendered tributary to it by river and rail, furnish supplies of the Lecessaries of life in such abundance as to render living exceptionally cheap. When the manufactured articles are produced, the facilities for cheap distribution by river and rail are not equalled.

Cairo has a moral, intelligent, liberal and enterprising population of about 12,000—has a superior system of public schools, which, with others conducted by private enterprise, afford unsurpressed educational advantages—is possessed of well-established churches of nearly every denomination—has public and private buildings of a superior character—has a climate, which for salubrity and healthful influences cannot be surpassed—has a well-regulated and efficient municipal organization, its streets lighted with gas, and other metropolitan advantages, which make it highly desirable and in reality not to be excelled as a place of permanent residence.

Lots and land in Cairo are now offered at Lots and land in Cairo are now offered at very low prices, affording favorable oppor-tunities to purchase, and the owners pre-rent the location to the public as offering unrivaled advantages for the successful es-tablishment of commercial or manufactur-ing enterprises, and the best locality in the country for profitable investment of capital. That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Precedent is better than cure; for the patient occapes the risk which he must run in voicint attacks of this baleful distemper. This "Cure" expels the missmatic poison of Fourer and Agree from the system, and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. A great superiority of this remely over any other ever discovered for the speedy and certain cure of latermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mireral; consequently it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.
